TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY COUPLES TO ATTEND BIG INFORMAL DANCE TONIGHT

LARGE COLORFUL CROWD TO ENJOY WEEK-END ON SNOW-CLAD HILLS OF MANSFIELD

Dramatic Club Play is Feature of Saturday Entertainment. — Fraternities Will Observe Open House During Afternoon Following Dance.

Students and their guests, numbering two hundred and fifty, are eagerly awaiting the annual Mid-year Informal dance, to be given this evening in Hawley Armory by the class of 1924. The fraternity boxes are rapidly nearing completion and everything is in readiness for the dance, which will begin with a concert by the Peerless Orchestra from 8:00 to 8:30, followed by the grand march and dancing from 8:30 until 2:00 a.m. The "Peerless" is sending its best augmented orchestra, with "Chick" Stanley of Norwich at the piano, to play for the dance. Out-of-town guests have been arriving since yesterday for the festivities of the week end.

Colorful Dance Promised

The Mid-year promises to be as colorful as any of its predecessors. The fraternity boxes will be decorated in any way that the individual groups desire, while blue and white streamers will be placed below the girders secured at each side of the running track, and hiding the bare roof from the dancers below.

Entertainment Saturday

Saturday morning will find as many students as are unable to take cuts attending classes; most of the remainder who have attended the dance will probably kick the alarm clock onto the floor, and slumber until the forenoon is well spent. Saturday afternoon will find the guests entertained in the various fraternity rooms and houses, or some may prefer to wade through the drifts and view the matchless Storrs' landscape. For their benefit we might mention Codfish Falls, the "Ravine", "Fifty-foot", the ruined mill at Gurleyville, and other places of interest near the campus.

"Within the Law"

"Within the Law," the famous three act melodrama in which Miss Jane Cowl starred when it was originally produced on Broadway is the dramatic club's offering for Saturday evening.

After the play a five-piece Peerless Orchestra will play for dancing until midnight. Manager Ronald Bamford states that the picture of the cast will be taken Thursday night, so that this will not interfere with the dancing as it has in the past.

Sunday morning Rev. Marshall Dawson, one of the foremost college preachers in America, will speak in the Community Church. All students and their guests are invited to be present. Sunday afternoon will find most of the visitors leaving the Hill.

A complete list of the occupants of boxes who had signified their intention of attending the dance when the "Campus" went to press yesterday afternoon is printed below.

TEN APPLICANTS DESIRE VACANT COACHING POSITION AT THE COLLEGE

HARMAN, DUDACK, FITTS AND DREW AMONG THOSE WHO SEEK BLUE AND WHITE MENTOR'S THRONE

INTERESTING FACTS IN EGG-LAYING CONTEST

LIGHTS ADD GREATLY TO TOTAL PRODUCTION

Professor W. F. Kirkpatrick Much Pleased with Good Results Brought About by the Addition of Lights.—New Incubators.

According to Professor William F. Kirkpatrick, the twelfth egg-laying contest has uncovered some interesting facts in regard to the use of artificial light for increasing egg productions. Ever since last November, when the twelfth contest began electric lights in the contest houses have been turned on from nine o'clock to ten every night, and the hens given a liberal feed of grain.

"We wanted to find out just what effect artificial illumination, when used under egg-laying contest environment, would have on the birds," said Professor Kirkpatrick, and I can say that for the first three months our production has been unusually good. For the months of November, December, and January, the contest hens laid over 10,000 more eggs than were laid for the same period for an eight year average. This is an increase in production of almost fifty percent and as it comes at a time of the year when egg prices are highest, this record is particularly gratifying to us. Of

Welcome, all ye fair visitors, to the Hills of Mansfield.

May your sojourn at the College on on the Hill be pleasant.

We trust that the events planned for your entertainment may truly serve their purpose.

And on departing, may you carry with you some of the spirit of Connecticut—where good fellowship reigns supreme.

Here's hoping that we meet again.

Up to the present there have been at least ten applicants for the position of coach at Connecticut to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Coach J. W. Tasker last month.

The latest to apply for the position are "Hap" Harman and "Bill" Dudack, two all-round athletes from Wesleyan and Georgetown respectively. According to present accounts, the application of "Spud" Drew, coach at Trinity, has been withdrawn as Drew has denied that he was seeking the position and nothing further has been heard of the matter. President C. L. Beach stated yesterday, however, that he did not know whether Drew had notified the college that he did not still seek the position or not.

Roscoe Fitts, star athlete at Harvard University, is another candidate for the position of Aggie coach. The situation is considered one of the best paying jobs among the smaller New England colleges and this may be one of the reasons why there have been so many aspirants for the place.

Next Saturday, three members of the Alumni Association will come to the college to talk over the general sport situation with the athletic council and several of the prominent members of the senior class. The discussion will probably effect, to a large extent, the decision of the athletic council when it meets next month to decide definitely on the man to coach athletic teams at Connecticut. According to President Beach, the new athletic director will be named about the first of April. The council recommends an applicant to the president, who, in case of approval of the candidate hands his name to the board of trustees for final ratification.

The two latest candidates, Harman and Dudack, both were outstanding figures in the athletics of their respective institutions. Harman was a three letter man at Wesleyan, excelling on the gridiron, diamond and chalked court, while Dudack won his letter at Georgetown in football, baseball and track. "Hap" has had little experience in the coaching game while "Bill" was the successful mentor of a prep school in Oklahoma for some time.

Owing to the absence of Professor Manchester from the Hill, the names

WESLYAN JINX STILL IN EVIDENCE AS AGGIES BOW TO RED AND BLACK

MIDDLETOWN COLLEGIANS ROMP OFF WITH
30 TO 16 VICTORY ON THEIR HOME COURT

Alexander Keenly Missed by Blue and White Hoopsters.—Game is Feature of Wesleyan Junior Week.—Nutmeggers Weak on Foul Shooting. No Outstanding Plays on Connecticut Team.

The Wesleyan jinx bobbed up again this year when last Friday afternoon at Middletown before the Junior Prom crowd the Aggies went down to defeat at the hands of the Red and Black five by a 30—16 score. Last year the Wesleyan boys came to Storrs hoping to keep the Aggie score down and went back to Middletown with the game under their belt by a one point lead. This year Captain Lord, who has played on the varsity for four seasons, but has failed to play on a basketball team that defeated Wesleyan, took his team down to Middletown determined to avenge all former defeats, but fate was too much for the Aggies, and Wesleyan nearly doubled their score. The Aggies had considerable difficulty locating the basket, Makofski, Krasow and Radovich all missing shots from under the basket, while the Red and Black could not seem to miss shots from the center of the floor, nearly all of their points being the result of long shooting.

One of the big factors that kept victory from the Blue and White was the fact that Alexander was unable to appear in the lineup, due to the return of rheumatism in his ankle, a result of his injury last year that kept him in the infirmary for some time last spring. Where "Alec" was missed the most was in the shooting of fouls and in his masterly floor work. Neither Makofski nor Radovich were able to make the foul shots good, "Mac" missing five out of eight tries while the Torrington boy made only one try good out of seven. Wesleyan fouled frequently but not disastrously because of the failure of the Aggies to shoot the fouls.

Robinson was the star of the game for Wesleyan, dropping in five field goals before being removed from the game with four personal fouls. Smith, who took Robinson's place was one of the features of the game, scoring three double counters in the last five minutes of play. King at guard put up a good game for the Red and Black. For Connecticut the honors were evenly divided, no one man standing out above the others.

The Aggies started out in splendid shape when "Petey" Balock broke thru after a minute of play and scored the first points of the afternoon with a field basket. Wesleyan retaliated with field goals by Robinson and Moore and from that time the Aggies never took the lead away. Connecticut missed many easy shots and at half time the score stood Wesleyan 11, Connecticut 4. In the second half Wesleyan lost none of its speed and working smoothly rolled up thirty points while our total score was only sixteen.

SCHOOL OF AG. BEATS SOPHOMORES 30—5

Vail, Jones and Sweeney Help Pile up
Score in One-sided Class Contest.

The School of Ag. came back to their own form Monday night and trounced the Sophomores to the tune of 30 to 5. At the end of the first half, the score was 12 to 4 in the School's favor but at the beginning of the second half they came back and walked away with the game. O'Brien was taken out of the game at the end of the first half as he was to make the Brown trip. Without his efficient guarding the School forwards ran wild and Boyd and McDonald were unable to check them. In the last few minutes the School scored at will, thus running up a high score. Ganem was back and showed his old form, making half the points for the Sophs. Keeler made the other basket. Vail was high point-getter for the School, netting five baskets with Jones close behind, having four to his credit. Sweeney made good three out of six tries from the free throw line and adding three baskets to the score. This was the first of the interclass games to have a high one-sided score.

We hope Krasow's injured knee, sustained in the Brown game, will soon heal—we need Harry.

It's too bad we can't give the visitors on the Hill a demonstration of how a real basketball team works.

JUNIORS BEATEN BY SCHOOL OF AG. FIVE

School Continues Its Winning Streak.
Wins Easily by 30—5 Score

In a close game, with the score nearly tied at the end of the first half the Juniors in the class games last Monday night. At the start the game was anybody's and the first half ended with the Seniors one point to the good. In the second half they came back and when the final whistle blew they were on the long end of a 13 to 9 score. Jerry starred, making all the field goals while Brundage made good three out of four tries from the free throw line. Donahue and Bamford starred for the Juniors making all but two of the points. This was another of the close games that the Juniors always seem to have the hard luck to lose. All the games so far have been exceptionally close with the exception of the S. of Ag.—Sophomore game.

OUT OF BOUNDS

"Alec" was surely missed in the game with Wesleyan, and his presence in the battle would probably have turned the tide for Connecticut.

Referee: Sullivan of Dean. Time of halves, 20 minutes Fouls, Joslyn 19 out of 22. Makofski 5 out of 11.

The team had the old Aggie fight and surely deserved to win.

Foul shooting decided the result in the Brown game and "Louie's" eagle eye was sorely missed.

Connecticut lead up to the last minute and was clearly the better aggregation altho Brown took the honors.

It was the first victory the Bear has ever had over Connecticut on the marked court.

The loss of Alexander was again keenly felt at Providence Tuesday night, when Brown was able to nose out a victory over the Aggies by virtue of foul shooting. The feature of the game was the foul shooting of Joslyn, who made good nineteen shots out of twenty-two tries from the fifteen foot line. The Aggies clearly outplayed the Brunonians all through the game; the Aggie passwork being the best displayed by them this year. It was only the Brown foul shots that kept the Providence team in the game at all, the Aggies making eleven field goals during the regular playing period while Brown's best efforts gathered only five for them.

The game was a nip and tuck affair during the entire forty minutes of the regular periods. At the end of the first half the score stood 14—13, with Brown having the advantage. The Providence team kept the lead for the first part of the second period until Connecticut rallied and, tying the score, put on an extra spurt which carried the Connecticut colors to a four point lead with but a few minutes to play. A field basket brought Brown within two points of Connecticut's score, and with three-quarters of a minute to play, Referee Sullivan called a personal foul on the Aggies in the basket zone. Joslyn made good both tries and tied the score at 26 all, so that an overtime period was necessary. During the five extra minutes Brown ran away with the demoralized Aggies, Joslyn and Mitchell each scoring a double-counter, while the former also put in three from the free throw line.

Altho Joslyn's shooting was the feature of the game, Mitchell played the best game on the floor for the Providence team, while the floor work of the Aggies completely overshadowed that of Brown. For Connecticut, Gustafson, playing his first full game, was the star, the Manchester boy scoring three times from the floor. The work of Makofski, who scored three double counters and five fouls, was on a par with that of "Gus," and Krasow who put in four from scrimmage was a bright spot for Connecticut. The guarding of Captain Lord and "Petey" Balock was as good as any displayed this year, and "Petey" also sank in a shot from the center of the floor that thrilled the crowd.

The work of Referee Sullivan of Dean was unsatisfactory. He called twenty-two fouls on the Aggies while he was able to detect only half that number on Brown. In fact, he was unable to detect Brown at all during the second half.

The Middletown five has an annoying habit of turning victory their way—this year being the fourth in their favor.

CAMPUS PHILOSOPHER

Three times a year the Philosopher finds it necessary to turn from serious thoughts and musings to greet the guests who attend Connecticut's three "big" dances, the Hop, the Mid and the Prom.

For the Informal he extends the conventional best wishes, and sincerely hopes you will enjoy yourself.

Talk about extremes! Last year they were generously above the knees, and now the slim, snaky things drag on the floor.

Dresses, we mean.

Might be interesting to listen in on the conversation at Holcomb Hall the last hour before the dance.

The question is, do girls ever swear?

Of course we know co-eds don't.

"Twelfth on the electric curler."
"Oh, you mean thing, I was ahead of you."

The rest is left to your imagination.

Without trying to be funny, the C. P. remarks that it will be dry in Storrs Friday night if it doesn't rain or snow.

Paraphrasing George Ade, it is a marvel that he who has so little, should attend so much.

The "has" refers to money.

The Sentence of the Week
"O beautiful is love and to be free
Is beautiful, and beautiful are friends.
God let us breathe your beauty with our breath."—John Masefield.

Last week in "Connie Says" we were urged to buy banners and so forth to fix up our rooms for the Informal.

We have wondered why, ever since, and though we have pondered long, cannot arrive at a conclusion, for it is well-known that no girls are allowed in the men's dormitories.

If it wasn't for the snow, we might enjoy life.

"ACROSS THE ROAD"

For the past few years there has been much complaint from the members of the fair sex at Connecticut, that their doings and activities have not been given due consideration in the "Campus." This may have been true but only because there has not been sufficient interest shown on the part of the co-eds in writing for the college publication. It is absolutely impossible for a man to be able to coral the news which is current in the women's section of a college, and up to the present there have been very few of the literary-inclined among the co-eds.

This year, however, there has been much more interest shown among the girls at Connecticut in writing for the "Campus," and it has been decided to give the girls a section of their own each week, for the publishing of all women's activities at Connecticut, including sports. Such a section is a feature of many college papers, and with the proper support, will add to the interest taken in the "Campus," at the same time giving added prominence to the doings of the occupants of Holcomb Hall. This department will be known, for the present, as "Across the Road," and contributions will be received from anyone by Hazel Pierpont, Irene Cooke, Phyllis Smith or any member of the Campus board.

The first appearance is in this number of the "Campus" and the success in the future depends on the interest shown by the girls themselves. If you want it, get behind the "Campus" board, and make it a success. The result remains with you.

WHAT IS THE OUTCOME?

In the columns of the "Campus" of last week appeared an editorial concerning the misuse of the good equipment of Hawley Armory, and also the general condition of the physical education department of the college. It is indeed a good thing to be able to clearly realize that some of the alumni are at least arousing themselves to the extent of taking an active interest. One step more is still to be taken. Actions speak louder than words. The undergraduate body has howled until it is dumb but conditions go unchanged.

The men chosen to meet with the Athletic Council at the meeting to be held tomorrow have been chosen. It is to be hoped by all those having the welfare of the college at heart that these men will get down to cold facts, consider the needs of the college, and then exert their good influence in accordance with their best judgment. In the days of old when C. A. C. men were told that it was college first and the individual last. The undergraduates are looking with keen interest to the developments from this meeting and wondering if the old rule of "College first" will stand the iron test to which it is liable to be subjected.

GOOD POSSIBILITIES

Ten coaches have already applied for the position of head coach at Connecticut. Certainly there is plenty of material at hand from which to make a selection. By a careful consideration of the athletic conditions of the college and the men who are desiring to fill the now vacant position, the athletic council should be able to make recommendations that will be satisfactory to the majority.

The athletic council, composed of faculty, alumni and students, will meet next Saturday to discuss the present situation and to consider the applicants. No final decision will be made or announced until some time in April. According to present indications there are many reasons to believe that Connecticut will soon be blessed with a coach that can hold the respect of the student body and produce satisfactory results in our sports.

Although the rules governing some of the work of the English Department that were published recently, contained one or two "sore points," (sarcastic or otherwise) for the most of the fellows, they should be looked upon as an attempt at raising the standards, which is a worthy cause, one needing the best of support from the student body.

INTEREST BEING AROUSED IN COMING RIFLE MATCHES

Candidates Now Practicing. — Good
Records Being Made

The shooting gallery in the Armory has been repaired and the R. O. T. C. squad is practicing for the coming matches. Several men have already practiced and some very creditable scores were turned in.

As the first three matches with the R. O. T. C. teams of Rhode Island State, University of Maine and Ripon College of Wisconsin, occur during the week of March 10, it is imperative that candidates for the team practice. That means that only two weeks are left in which to prepare for the events. No man, no matter how many medals he has, will be able to participate in the matches, unless he tries out for the team. One of the department officers will be at the gallery to take charge of practices on every afternoon at 3:30 p.m., except Saturday. Try-outs will be held evenings by arrangement. Captain Crim said: "There is no reason why we should not have the best team in the competition with the material available here. Anyone that can shoot should report to either Captain Crim, Lieutenant Passmore or Cadet Captain Ashman.

A separate match will be fired later with the New Hampshire State team. This means that anyone in the College can take part as it is not a R. O. T. C. match, and all good shots in the College are urged to try out.

DR. DUNN SPEAKS ON VALUES OF SCIENCE

Dr. Denlinger introduced to College Assembly last Wednesday, Dr. Leslie C. Dunn of the Storrs Experiment Station, who spoke on the relationship and values of science to the world or to the life of man. Dr. Dunn talked of the celebration of the one hundred and third anniversary of the three great scientists: Pasteur, Mendel and Darwin, and how their work influenced the world. He also stated that science is in fashion; at present is a subject that the people are most interested in today. A great many people are entering the various fields of science today than ever before. Although it is impossible to classify the chief values of science some of its relations to man are its usefulness, its ability to satisfy the desires and curiosity, and the teaching of honesty. In closing he advised that in science there should be more reasoning instead of the guess work and imagination than is used in the present day and expressed a hope that in the future, our conduct might be governed by thought and reason rather than by the old inherited prejudices.

A quartet composed of Messrs. Allan Bates, Michael Farrell, Donald Bassett and Robert Laubscher, sang at the Faculty-Student At-Home on February 4, that was held in Hawley Armory.

SAFETY VALVE

COME ON, SOPHS!

Dear Editor:

The Freshman Rules constitute one of the traditions at Connecticut. As the old saying goes, "What's everybody's business is nobody's business." For this reason it has long been a custom of the Sophomore classes to elect a committee for the enforcement of these Freshman Rules. The men on this committee have by no means a pleasant job, but it is up to those elected to the position to carry out their duties or show themselves quitters. Once a man is on the committee it is his duty to see to the observance of the Freshman Rules. If he fails in this, or lies down on his job, he is given the well-earned reputation of being "yellow." If, on the other hand, he does his work well, he runs the risk of extreme unpopularity, and the underclassmen who suffer at his hands characterize him by certain epithets even less savory than "yellow." This is an entirely wrong attitude. The Freshmen should be far-sighted enough to see that their own class is going through a similar experience the coming year, and they should be broad-minded enough to give a man who is doing his best in a trying position "an even break."—Discipline.

Dear Editor:

We are falling down in one method of backing up our athletic teams; giving the team a send-off as it leaves for a game. The writer fails to remember one instance of this since the first football game in the fall of 1921, when the student body turned out at eight o'clock in the morning to cheer the team that left for Mass. Aggie to play football. We have had criticism of the mass meetings—here's a suggestion; curtail to some extent the number of mass meetings, improve the quality, and wherever possible get the gang together to encourage teams as they leave for other colleges. For instance, the team left Tuesday for Brown, when nearly every student on the Hill could have spared a few minutes to go over to the Armory and stretch his or her lungs, yet how large a gathering was there?

Another thing, do we ever meet a victorious team and let them know how glad we are that they came thru successfully? At another college not far from here it is customary to meet at the station a team that has won an important game and march thru the city, letting the citizens know the college is alive. Of course, it is impossible for us to do that here, but the squad when it reaches the campus.

These are suggestions; shall we carry them out?

of the additional candidates for the position could not be obtained for this issue of the "Campus."

HARMLESS HOME BREW

Chase a bull frog three miles and gather the hops, add malted milk and corn plasters; simmer and turn towards the east; strain thru' an I. W. W.'s sock to keep from working, pour into brown bottles, dropping a live grass hopper into each to furnish the kick.

The Saturday after the dance, the Social Committee has obtained Lorna Doone as the Saturday night picture, and for the week following, Lon Chaney will appear in his wonderful screen success "Shadows."

They Weighed Air— and Charles II Laughed

SAMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unresisting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.

RABBI MANN SPEAKS AT STORRS CHURCH

Talks on How to Get the Most Out of Life

Sunday evening, after the Christian Endeavor meeting, Rabbi L. L. Mann, of the Temple Mishkin Israel of New Haven, gave an interesting talk at the Storrs Church, on "How to Get the Most Out of Life." Without a doubt Rabbi Mann is one of the best speakers who has ever been heard at Connecticut.

Rabbi Mann's talk which dealt with Psalm 115, the problem of many people of today, and was stated in a plain and simple fashion. He maintained throughout his speech the idea that, in order to get the most out of anything one did, he would have to put as much into it.

After the talk, Rev. Dawson announced that Rabbi Mann had established a tradition for Storrs Church, and that in the future outside speakers would be brought in as often as possible to speak at the church after Christian Endeavor meetings. Rabbi Mann was brought here mainly through the efforts of Arthur I. Weinstein.

HARTFORD ALUMNI CLUB TO HOLD MEETING

The annual meeting of the Hartford Alumni Club will be held at the City Club, Friday evening, February 23 at 7:45, according to a recent announcement by President George H. Hollister. Professor Alan W. Manchester, an alumnus of C. A. C. and chairman of the Athletic Council, will give the Hartford alumni some of the latest and straightest information on the athletic situation. There is a possibility that the college quartet will be secured for the evening's entertainment.

DEFEAT SOPH. SEXTET

In the second of this year's interclass games, held Tuesday, February 6, in the Armory, the Junior girls surprised themselves by defeating the sophomores with the extravagant score of 31—18. The Juniors held a strong lead throughout, waning slightly toward the end.

The line-up follows:

Clark	lf	Moddell
Hubbard	rf	Ferriss
Graf	c	Hall
Stellenwerf	sc	Teeter
McNenemy	lg	Fuller
Cooke	rg	Parker

Score: Juniors 31, Sophomores 18. Substitutions: Palmer for Fuller, Pierpont for Hall, Hubbard for McNenemy, Slanetz for Hubbard. Referee, Mr. Putnam.

Freshmen Co-eds Win Over Juniors

February 13, the Freshmen and the Juniors met and a close contest ensued. Both teams gave their best and at the end of the allotted time the score was 15—15. According to girl's rules, the teams play until one side makes a basket. Miss Grant succeeded in changing the score in favor of the Freshmen, making it 17—15.

From now on the girls' interclass games will be played Tuesday nights.

Line-up

Ferriss	lf	Nase
Moddell	rf	Grant
Hall	c	Carleson
Teeter	re	Ellis
Fuller	lg	Benham
Parker	rg	Tooth

Score: Freshmen 17, Juniors 15. Substitutions: Moddell for Parker; Parker for Moddell; Cooper for Carleson. Referee, Miss Kitner.

The remaining varsity schedule is as follows:

February 23—
Rhode Island State at Rhode Island
February 28—
Meriden at Storrs
March 3—
Cushing at Storrs
March 10—
Dr. Arnold's School at New Haven

THETA ALPHA PHI HOLDS INITIATION FOR THESPIANS

J. L. Oberly and L. C. Richardson
Awarded Membership

Connecticut Alpha Chapter of the Theta Alpha Phi honorary dramatic fraternity, held initiation of new members Monday evening in Main 7.

John Oberly and Lewis Richardson, having fulfilled the requirements in dramatics which are necessary for eligibility to membership, were initiated at this time.

Theta Alpha Phi was organized at Connecticut three years ago and was the eighth chapter of the national dramatic fraternity to be organized. Theta Alpha Phi is the largest honorary dramatic fraternity in the United States at the present time, having over thirty chapter, and being represented in practically every large university in the country.

The new members have been active in the work of the local dramatic club for three years, Mr. Oberly as a manager and Richardson as an actor.

ACROSS THE ROAD

THE TESTING BLOCK

Across the road is a Golden Gate
Behind which our chances are waiting;
They beckon and call, but no step do they take
As we sit on the wall—just debating.

There are some of us who will spend our lives

Just wondering what to do next,
And some who are watching the Golden Gate

To jump when the locks uncatch.

The Aggie "Campus" is the gate so bright,
Holcomb Hall, the wall of waiting;
Now to settle your mind that the girls are alright,
Count those on the wall—just debating.
—I.M.C., '25.

CO-EDS NOW PLANNING BIG SNOW FIGHT

The girls' social committee is working at present on more variation in its programs. A successful departure from the overworked "at homes" was made last week in the form of a taffy pull, preceded by long unused games. Another plan which may be carried out in the near future is a co-ed snow-fight. If the plan is approved by the girls a date will be set and it is expected that either one floor in the dormitory will challenge another floor or that one class will challenge some other class.

The campaign should be planned beforehand, a captain elected for each side, and squads trained for building forts, and others for making balls. The site should be at a safe distance from glass windows, and non-participants should be ready with bandages and poultices.

After the battle the social committee will have hot chocolate and sandwiches ready to serve. Who will be the first to challenge?

CANDY PULL PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Having a desire for "something different" in the way of Friday night entertainment, last week the girls planned a candy pull. Novel games and dancing were enjoyed while the candy was cooking, which process was rather lengthy owing to the accidental addition of several cups of water. For somewhat over two hours the frolicers were tantalized by odors from the kitchen, but finally the sticky mass was brought forth and everyone satisfied and happy—except the freshman clean-up committee.

There will be a meeting in the Assembly Room, Monday, February 18th, at one o'clock, of all the girls who are interested in trying out for the co-ed section of the "Campus."

GIRLS' RIFLE TEAM STARTS PRELIMINARIES

The first meeting of the girls' rifle team was held last Saturday afternoon in the Armory. Captain Crim gave a brief survey of the principles of gallery rifle shooting, and explained a little of what the girls would have to do in order to make the team. Classes were arranged for Monday at 1:30 and 2:30, and Tuesday and Saturday at 1:30. It will take about four lectures for the girls to qualify in certain fundamentals, after which they will begin practice in the gallery.

If the Connecticut co-eds show enough ability and interest in this sport, matches to take place early in March will be arranged with other colleges and it is quite probable that rifle shooting will become one of the permanent sports for the girls.

EXPERIMENT NO. 789

Problem: To open a cocoanut which is in its natural state, retaining outer husk as well as hard inner shell.

Procedure: Borrow a bread knife and hunt up largest stone which you are saving for geology collection. By placing knife blade on cocoanut and pounding with stone, cut ring completely around nut, and widen it so that two people's fingers can be inserted. Slightly loosen husk with knife. The two people whose fingers are in crack, place soles of feet together and pull. Husk comes off suddenly.

A third person, (the others being disabled) opens stem pit of nut with a corkscrew and extracts milk. The shell is cracked by placing nut on radiator and pounding with aforesaid stone.

Conclusion: Four girls in bed with a stomach-ache.

Note: The original experiment was carried on by one of the occupants of Holcomb Hall.

The date, Friday night, April 20, has been set for the annual Co-ed Dance, although it has not yet been decided whether it will be formal or informal. Owing to the lack of room in the dormitory, it will be given in the Armory this year. Details will be published later.

It is rumored that Ida Tuttle, '23, is initiating the fair sex of New Britain High into the art of making bread pudding.

Due to the generosity of the New Haven High School Faculty, Marion Toole, '23, was able to visit some of her haunts on the "Hills of Mansfield" over the week-end.

The fates were against the reporter when she tried to find out the number of red candles on Marion Eggleston's birthday cake, Saturday night. The guests were sworn to solemn secrecy, so it would be useless for anyone to try.

course it is a little early to draw any definite conclusions. The lights will have to be run for a period of four or five years before definite conclusions can be arrived at, but we hope our results will continue to be as favorable as those noted for the first three months."

"Another point of interest may be found in the new mammoth Buckeye incubator, recently installed," said Professor Kirkpatrick. "This machine embodies a new principle of incubation and it is a radical departure, both in construction and operation from the type incubator commonly used. The egg trays are placed one above another, in four different compartments, and this feature saves a large amount of space. This is an important factor when an incubator cellar must be constructed. We are about to begin the operation of this incubator and it will be interesting to watch its performance in comparison with the other types of incubators in use."
